Noodles drawn in pool duel

Origin of water toy.
Self-professed inventor fears history will forget him after idea 'stolen'

Bendable, buoyant and made of polyethylene foam, a mainstay summer water toy has churned up decades of discord between two Ontario men.

Rick Koster and Steve Hartman each insist they invented the pool noodle. The disagreement stretches back to the 1980s in Oakville and Mississauga, where the men say they independently discovered the idea and briefly worked together to manufacture and sell it.

Nearly 30 years on, several companies churn out millions of noodles every year. Neither Koster nor Hartman got it patented.

On one side of the rift, there's Koster, 72, who feels robbed of his rightful legacy as the inventor of the "Water Woggle." Then there's Hartman, the CEO of a Brampton company that has made pool noodles for decades and wants to protect his reputation from Koster's claims.

"They took (my) concept, they saw the success of it, and they wanted to cash in on it," says Koster. "I want the truth to be told."

"For some reason he thinks he invented the foam rod," counters Hartman. "We were already making them … for (use) in pools."

Koster claims Hartman betrayed him by shipping noodles to Canadian Tire even after he declined a "lowball" offer from the company. He walked out and sued Hartman but eventually dropped the lawsuit because he couldn't afford the legal fees, he says.

Hartman begs to differ: "He knew he was wrong and ran."

A perceived lack of recognition has been nagging at Koster for years.

"You see your product sticking out the roof of a car. Kids going to the beach," he says. "It's like Groundhog Day every summer." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Controlling geese an annual struggle

A pair of serious goose-related injuries have thrust Canada's most loathed iconic creature back into the crosshairs. Normally honking, pooping nuisances, the birds have recently proven to be hazardous to people on the roads and in parks.

An OPP officer participating in a motorcycle training exercise was hit by a goose and seriously injured on Thursday. Earlier this month, a cyclist was reportedly attacked by a goose in Ottawa.

With about 400,000 resident geese in Southern Ontario, efforts to minimize goose-human interactions are part of an annual struggle by government, wildlife workers and community members.

"The Canada goose population has increased a lot, starting in the 1970s," said Jack Hughes of the Canada Wildlife Service.

The population appears to have stabilized thanks to generous hunting permits, relocation efforts and destruction of eggs, Hughes said. Geese feast on fresh-cut grass and revel in waterfront locations free of trees and bushes. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Casa Loma wedding a dream come true

World Pride. Over 100 LGBTQ couples say 'I do' before hundreds of guests

PHOEBE HO
toronto@metronews.ca

Coun. Kristyn Wong-Tam, council's only openly gay member, got a standing ovation as she reached the stage at Casa Loma on Thursday.

THE WESTEND STUDIO/FOR METRO

More than 110 couples can now say they had a wedding worthy of a celebrity — complete with a red-carpet entrance, media coverage, a prestigious guest list and a landmark castle in the backdrop.

But that isn't what made the mass Grand Pride wedding — a signature event of World Pride — at Casa Loma on Thursday special.

For many who flew to Toronto from countries like Australia, Taiwan and Ghana, where same-sex marriage is illegal, it was a dream come true to openly celebrate their love and tie the knot with the support of the community at North America's largest LGBTQ Pride wedding ever.

For Nora, 64, and Erna, 66, it marked a significant milestone in their 40-year-old love story.

The pair met at a bus stop by their university in the Philippines. They were "secret lovers" who were eventually forced apart by the circumstances.

"(It was a) very Catholic country, very conservative families, both of ours, and so I left the country after graduation. We kept in touch because we really cared for each other," said Nora, now a social worker in Toronto. "I got married, I have two sons, (I) tried that because that's what everybody says you're supposed to do when you're a woman ... to get married to a man."

Nora said they tried to stay away from each other for years until, eventually, they decided it was time to fight for their rights as a couple — years after moving to Canada. Canada is one of 16 countries in the world where same-sex marriage is legal.

Coun. Kristyn Wong-Tam, Toronto council's only openly gay member, was joined by Deputy Mayor Norm Kelly and many others to celebrate the event.

Wong-Tam, who got a standing ovation as she reached the stage, was one of more than 1,000 guests who couldn't help but get emotional when the 110 couples collectively said "I do" after hearing officiants from 12 denominations give their blessings.

"I know I was weeping, and certainly I recognized when I turned around there were a lot of teary eyes in the audience. For those who have been struggling with identity and acceptance, having this many people come together and celebrate them and their decision to join in life and matrimony, I think is just absolutely beautiful," she said. "And in many ways, to me, it represents the very best of Toronto and Canadian values."

With Liberty Group Entertainment, the organization that runs Casa Loma, footing the roughly $100,000 bill — excluding the cost of Ontario marriage licences — it took a huge burden off the couples' shoulders.

"I think this is possibly the easiest wedding in the history of weddings," said Helen Tweddle, a Toronto resident who arrived with her soon-to-be wife, Jennifer Neales, in a Rolls-Royce.

"It's sort of everything we kind of dreamed we'd love if we could even make it possible financially," Neales added. "It's like a fairy tale; it's so amazing."

Peel Region. Fluoridated water may spark charter challenge: Lawyer

Peel Region council has been told it could be legally liable for harming residents whose health is put at risk by fluoridated water.

"Not only is the region responsible and liable to the people of Peel, individual councillors are responsible and liable," said lawyer Nader Hasan, who is representing the citizens group Concerned Residents of Peel.

He told council that Canadian charter rights that protect against government inflicted harm are being violated. He warned that if fluoride is not removed a costly legal battle could unfold.

The group, with the help of regional Coun. John Sprovieri, wants fluoride removed from drinking water because of possible health risks such as bone cancer.

Council voted to defer a move to re-open the issue until September, when the region's legal staff will present an opinion on Hasan's arguments.

Health Canada in 2007 stated the practice is safe at the levels that are allowed in the country.

In 2011 the City of Toronto public health board, facing some public pressure, moved to continue fluoridating the water supply. In 2012, Halton Region council narrowly voted (11 to 9) in favour of keeping fluoride in its water supply.

Numerous studies conducted throughout the world suggest fluoride at low levels poses no health risks and is very effective in fighting tooth decay.

Hasan argued that many of these studies are outdated or were not peer reviewed.

Jurisdictions across North America, such as Calgary and Windsor, have removed fluoride from drinking water recently, but GTA municipalities have yet to follow the trend.

"Many jurisdictions, including all of western Europe, are not fluoridated," Hasan said. "Yet we see rates of tooth decay going down in these jurisdictions."

Waterfront Toronto slammed over Sugar Beach spending

Tax dollars. Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong criticizes group after nearly $1M spent on umbrellas and rocks

Denzil Minnan-Wong is outraged Waterfront Toronto spent close to $1 million on two giant rocks and 36 pink umbrellas at Sugar Beach, seen here on Thursday. RICK MADONIK/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

In the face of a city councillor's criticism, the head of Waterfront Toronto says spending close to $1 million to buy two giant rocks and 36 pink umbrellas for Sugar Beach was a prudent investment.

"What's the big picture? Some people just can't see the forest through the trees," Waterfront Toronto president and CEO John Campbell said Thursday.

"It's all about building a better city. Yes, you can pick a light pole here, an umbrella there, that's really not the point. The point is we are delivering on our mandate to provide a great community … this is about revitalization."

Developers have invested $2.6 billion on the waterfront, generating taxes that have "more than paid back the investment in a great public realm," Campbell added.

Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong is accusing Waterfront Toronto of wasting tax dollars when it paid $500,000 to purchase two "designer rocks" and about $12,000 each for three dozen pink umbrellas, "that look like they're wearing out."

The waterfront park on Queens Quay opened in 2010, but Minnan-Wong said he only just obtained the invoices, which he said he had to "rip out" of the agency.

"I get mad when we can't improve parkland-deficient areas and our tax dollars are being used to buy two rocks and a bunch of umbrellas for close to a million bucks," Minnan-Wong said Thursday.

"We should be making it look nice, but it's a question of value and it's a question of transparency," he said.

Campbell noted the umbrellas are not the kind you take to the beach. They are permanent "art structures" equipped with LED lights and designed to withstand the weather for decades. The rocks, which feature coloured stripes — in keeping with the park's sugar theme — were chosen by the firm that won an international design competition "that was public," Campbell said. He rejected Minnan-Wong's suggestion the umbrellas need replacing.

Waterfront Toronto was established in 2003 with $1.5 billion of funding shared equally by all three levels of government.

Next week, the city's executive committee will consider a report on the next phase of waterfront revitalization.

The agency is running out of money and is looking to the city for more borrowing powers to complete capital projects, flood protection and transit infrastructure, Campbell said.

Landmark ruling grants land title to First Nation

Supreme Court. Decision makes it easier for aboriginal groups to establish title over lands used for hunting, fishing

Chief Roger William, of the Xeni Gwet'in First Nation, speaks during a news conference in Vancouver on Thursday after the Supreme Court of Canada ruled in favour of the Tsilhqot'in First Nation, granting it title to 438,000 hectares of land. DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

For the first time, the Supreme Court of Canada has recognized a First Nation's title to a specific tract of land — a historic decision with major implications for energy projects such as the Northern Gateway pipeline.

Thursday's 8-0 decision, which overturned an appeal court ruling, will essentially make it easier for First Nations to establish title over lands that were regularly used for hunting, fishing and other activities.

The landmark ruling is the Supreme Court's first on aboriginal title and will apply wherever there are unresolved land claims.

"The claimant group bears the onus of establishing aboriginal title," Chief Justice Beverley McLachlin wrote in the decision. "The task is to identify how pre-sovereignty rights and interests can properly find expression in modern common law terms."

Title, however, is not absolute, the top court declared; economic development can still go ahead on land where title is established as long as one of two conditions is met.

Economic development on land where title is established would require the consent of the First Nation. Failing that, the government would have to make the case that development is pressing and substantial and meet its fiduciary duty to the aboriginal group.

Chief Roger William of Xeni Gwet'in, one of six bands that make up the Tsilhqot'in First Nation, said he welcomed the Supreme Court's decision to grant a recognition of aboriginal title to 1,750 square kilometres of territory.

"First Nations across this country have taken legal action, entered into treaty, practised their language and demonstrated use of the land and through this they have supported us — we thank you," he said in a statement.

StatsCan. Hate crimes that target sexual orientation more likely to be violent

Most racial or religious hate crimes in Canada involve only mischief, but violence occurs in two-thirds of the incidents in which sexual orientation is the key factor, new data released Thursday suggests.

Police reported 1,414 hate-motivated criminal incidents in 2012, up 82 from the previous year, Statistics Canada said in its latest report on hate crimes.

The agency defines hate crimes as those that are found by police investigations to be motivated by hatred against an identifiable group.

Overall, almost 70 per cent of hate crimes reported by police were non-violent, with mischief — incidents such as vandalism, graffiti and other destruction of property — as the most common offence.

However, two-thirds of hate crimes involving sexual orientation involved violence, as did a third of those involving racial or ethnic hatred, Statistics Canada reported.

Violence occurred in only 13 per cent of religiously motivated hate incidents.

Tories change tune on charging fee to foreign musicians

Ottawa has effectively eliminated a fee charged to international musicians that critics complained was deterring acts from abroad from playing in Canadian bars, pubs and restaurants.

The removal of a work permit requirement for foreign musical acts, part of the government's overhaul of the controversial temporary foreign worker program, went largely unnoticed amid a spate of other measures announced last week.

HAPPY PRIDE, TORONTO! TTC SERVES A DIVERSE CITY

CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

This week, WorldPride has come to Toronto and the TTC is proud to play its part in both celebrating and participating in this major event.

A TTC bus has been wrapped in rainbow colours to show the TTC's commitment to diversity and equality, and to promote the use of public transit as the best and quickest way to get about town during the festivities.

At Wellesley Station, a plaque has been installed to honour the local community in hosting WorldPride and the TTC's commitment to LGBTQ rights. Many TTC staff, family and friends will join the march this weekend, together with our Pride bus, on what promises to be a spectacular and meaningful day.

The TTC's workforce has long reflected the diverse make up of our multicultural city. As CEO, I am committed to making the TTC more reflective of the city that we serve. The past two years, for example, has seen an increase in the number of women in senior management positions, including key posts on my executive team.

There is still more to do. Women and visible minorities are underrepresented in management and, like any big organization, the prevailing culture needs to further embrace all to make this a truly great place to work.

For me, it's part of our journey of becoming a transit system that makes Toronto proud. By reflecting the city we serve, we are better able to understand and embrace the diverse customer base that we move around Toronto, every day.

• If celebrating this weekend, don't forget to pick up our special weekend pass, branded for WorldPride 2014. For just $22, six people – maximum two adults and four children under 19 – have unlimited access to the TTC on June 28 and 29.

TTC specially wrapped rainbow bus helped to shuttle couples and guests to the mass WorldPride 2014 wedding at Casa Loma on Thursday, June 26. The bus will be featured again on Sunday, June 29 in the 34th annual Pride Parade.

WEEKEND LINE 1 SUBWAY CLOSURE – WILSON TO DOWNSVIEW STATIONS

This weekend, on Saturday, June 28 and Sunday, June 29, there will be no subway service between Wilson and Downsview stations on Line 1 (Yonge-University-Spadina) due to critical track work. For direct access to the subway, customers can take frequent shuttle buses one stop from Downsview to Wilson Station, or, the 84 Sheppard West bus from Downsview to Sheppard-Yonge station.

Wheel-Trans buses will be available at Downsview and Eglinton West stations to accommodate customers who use wheelchairs, scooters and other mobility aids. Staff will be on hand to offer assistance. Regular subway service resumes on Monday, June 30.

As well, on Sunday, June 29, WorldPride Parade-related road closures will require the 505 Dundas and 94 Wellesley routes to divert between Bay St. and Broadview Ave. Visit ttc.ca for details.

U.K. taxpayers feel pinch of palace refurb

$65-million monarchy. More than a third spent on maintenance of aging palaces

Buckingham Palace accounts released Thursday show the monarchy cost British taxpayers 35.7 million pounds (about $65 million) last year — 56 pence (about $1) for everyone in the country.

That is 7.2 per cent, or 2.4 million pounds, more than the year before — the increase mainly explained by the royal family's repair bills.

A big part of the fixer-upper budget went to creating a suitable home for the young family of Prince William, his wife Kate and their toddler Prince George.

Some 3.4 million pounds of taxpayer funds were used to refurbish part of London's Kensington Palace for the couple. The extensive work included removing asbestos, installing new heating and redecorating.

The couple, who have considerable personal financial resources in part because of the estate left by Princess Diana, paid for the carpets, curtains and furniture out of personal funds, the palace said.

In addition, Prince Charles' private secretary, William Nye, suggested that Charles and his wife Camilla — who are supported by profits from the extensive Duchy of Cornwall estate — may have helped William and Kate set up their new home.

Finch West Light Rail Transit Project (LRT): Maintenance and Storage Facility (MSF)

The Finch West LRT will add 11 kilometres of new rapid transit along Finch Avenue from the planned Finch West subway station at Keele Street to Humber College. The new service will provide improved, faster and reliable transit.

Metrolinx is undertaking planning activities in preparation for an Environmental Assessment (EA) to study and address the potential environmental effects of the MSF and include recommended measures to mitigate any effects identified through our planning activities.

Metrolinx invites you to attend a public information meeting to learn about plans for a MSF to support the future Finch West LRT line. The identified location for the MSF is a vacant property on Finch Avenue West between Norfinch Drive and Yorkgate Boulevard.

At this public information meeting, Metrolinx will:
- provide an overview of the Finch West LRT project
- introduce the MSF project
- present the existing environmental conditions of the site
- seek comment about the scope of the EA

The meeting will provide an opportunity to view displays, submit comments and speak one-on-one with staff.

Phone hacking acquittal.

'I am innocent ... I feel vindicated,' Brooks says

Former News of the World editor Rebekah Brooks said Thursday she is innocent of phone hacking and other crimes and feels vindicated by a jury's unanimous decision to acquit her.

The ex-tabloid editor made her first public statement since being cleared after an eight-month trial on charges of conspiring to hack phones, bribe officials and obstruct police. Standing outside her London home beside her husband Charles — who was also acquitted — Brooks said the last few years "have been tough."

"It has been a time of reflection for me," she said. "I have learned some valuable lessons and hopefully I am the wiser for it.... I am innocent of the crimes that I was charged with and I feel vindicated by the unanimous verdicts."

Brooks, 46, said she would offer support to former colleagues who still face trial.

Dozens of journalists have been arrested since the revelation that Rupert Murdoch's now-shuttered News of the World tabloid eavesdropped on the voicemails of thousands of people in a law-breaking quest for scoops.

U.S. Supreme Court dismantles protest buffer zone

The U.S. Supreme Court on Thursday struck down a 10-metre protest-free zone outside abortion clinics in Massachusetts.

The justices were unanimous in ruling that extending a buffer zone that far from clinic entrances violates the U.S. Constitution's First Amendment rights of protesters.

The clinics said they are most concerned about safety because of past incidents of violence. In 1994, a gunman killed two receptionists and wounded five others at clinics in Brookline, Mass.

2012 ban was overturned

Big sodas still A-OK in the Big Apple: High court

Big sodas can stay on the menu in the Big Apple after New York state's highest court refused Thursday to reinstate the city's first-of-its-kind size limit on sugary drinks. But city officials suggested they might be willing to revisit the supersize-soda ban.

The Court of Appeals found that the city Board of Health overstepped its bounds by imposing the 16-ounce cap.

Sobeys to shutter 50 locations

Underperforming stores. Closures include two in Toronto

Empire Co. Ltd. announced it is closing about 50 underperforming Sobeys stores to shave $200 million in costs following its takeover of Safeway Canada last summer.

The closures include two stores in Toronto (the locations at Front and Sherbourne, and Bathurst and Bloor), one each in Ajax, Mississauga and Windsor, and two that will be converted to FreshCo stores in Hamilton and Cambridge. The Toronto stores will officially be closed Saturday.

The Ajax and Mississauga Sobeys will shut down on Aug. 2, and the Windsor location will close Sept. 6.

"As hard as it was to take that decision, it will allow us to focus on stores with more potential," said CEO Marc Poulin on a conference call Thursday.

He noted that the stores had no future with the chain, particularly in the hugely competitive grocery store industry, where "we've got to fight for every single customer every single day."

HOT THUGS & THE MJ AFTERLIFE

It's time for another dose of The List, Metro's guide to what's hot this week:

THE METRO LIST
Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca

1 Speaking of hot. There's hot ... and there's hot. Jeremy Meeks, a 30-year-old gangster from Stockton, Calif., was arrested on weapons charges recently, but his mug shot looks so hot there's an Internet-spawned movement to set him free, so he can continue to look studly while (allegedly) stealing cars. Be careful what you wish for, America.

2 He's baaaaack! Like those plastic clowns you punch and they pop back up, Rob Ford just keeps popping up. Unfortunately, he keeps popping up at Toronto City Hall. Fresh out of rehab for various alcohol and drug problems, he's scheduled to return to his civic three-ring circus on June 30. While he was away, city council changed the locks and got a lot done. I can't believe I'm writing this, but he's second in the polls for the next election. Never mind me. Imagine how John Tory feels. He's trailing Rob Ford.

3 He's not coming back. He doesn't need to. At least I don't think so. Although you never know with Michael Jackson. It's been five years (five years?!) since the Moonwalker died, but the music, oh the music, lives on. And you want hot? The King of Pop has made $700 million since he died. That's more than Jay-Z, Taylor Swift and Kanye West combined. He's just not like other boys.

4 Overbite sensation. It's been quite the week for Bad Boys, but No. 1 with a bite has to be Luis Suarez, the Uruguayan soccer star who has apparently bitten not one but two World Cup opponents. No doubt worried that other squads won't play unless Suarez is fitted with a muzzle, FIFA has banned him for the next four months and that includes the rest of the World Cup. That's going to take a bite of out Uruguay's hopes, as Suarez is definitely their sharpest player.

5 Reality TV sucks. News flash: TV is bad for your health. Apparently, watching Howie Mandel match wits with Howard Stern on America's Got Talent is a quick ticket to a fast exit. A Spanish study of more than 13,000 healthy adults found that spending more than three hours a day watching TV doubles your chances of an early death. As usual, Mom was right all along. Too bad she's no longer with us ... Grey's Anatomy, you know.

6 Neanderthal time capsule The week's most significant scientific discovery: the world's oldest poop. The Spanish again. This time, they discovered a 50,000-year-old pile of Neanderthal coprolites, or fossilized feces, and it turns out there may be more to the Paleo diet than we thought: They found, along with the mammoth steaks and reindeer burgers, clear evidence of berries, nuts and tubers. Nouveau cavemen. Who knew?

Koushski, a seven-year-old male Asiatic cheetah, crouches at the Miandasht Wildlife Refuge in Jajarm, northeastern Iran. Iran is conducting a campaign to rescue Koushski and his kind. Iran looks to save last of the Asiatic cheetahs

Iran is rushing to try to save one of the world's critically endangered species, the Asiatic cheetah, and bring it back from the verge of extinction in its last refuge.

By the numbers

Estimated number of Asiatic cheetahs that remain in Iran, mostly in the east of the country.

The Asiatic cheetah, an equally fast cousin of the African cat, once ranged from the Red Sea to India, but its numbers have shrunkin the past century to the point that the species is now hanging on by a thin thread.

Once known as "hunting leopards," Asiatic cheetahs were traditionally trained for emperors and kings in Iran and India to hunt gazelles. They disappeared across the Middle East about 100 years ago, although there were sightings in Saudi Arabia until the 1950s.

Iran's efforts have been given a symbolic boost at the World Cup in Brazil, where Iran's team wore images of the cheetah on their uniforms.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The conservation work

With help from the UN, the Iranian government has stepped up efforts to rescue the species.

- Cameras have been set up around cheetah habitats to watch for threats.
- Authorities built shelters in arid areas so cats can have access to water.
- They've reached out to nearby communities, training them how to deal with cheetahs and promising compensation for killed livestock.

In an alarming development for our hyper-connected world, it has come to our attention that the lives reported by Facebook users may not be entirely accurate. And the scandal has been brilliantly exposed by the Higton Bros.

Those happy couples? They fight every night. Those delicious looking meals? Screengrabs taken from Buzzfeed listicles. Same goes for the vacation pics.

Facebook is a green screen and the posts are computer-generated special effects. What a wicked world. (HigtonBros./YouTube)

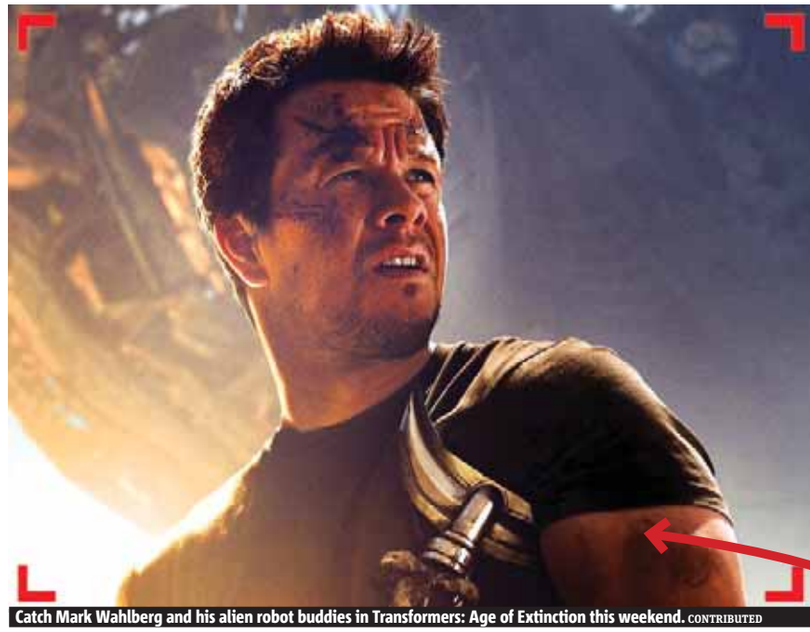
A wide-ranging action orgy

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN



Catch Mark Wahlberg and his alien robot buddies in Transformers: Age of Extinction this weekend. CONTRIBUTED

Transformers: Age of Extinction. This flick may be excessive on just about every level, but you'll definitely love it — if you're a 12-year-old boy

Richard: Mark, everybody loves spectacle. The Romans had the Coliseum and we have the Transformers movies. Like the gladiatorial shows of yore, in Michael Bay's movies it doesn't matter who lives or dies — the films don't care about their human characters and neither do we — all that matters is the spectacle of the whole thing, and at an almost frenetic three hours, Age of Extinction certainly delivers on that score.

For many, getting value per minute for their movie dollar will be enough, but do you, like the old Roman emperors, give this a thumbs up or down?

Mark: Richard, I was glued to my seat throughout! You see, some idiot had spilled epoxy on the seat before I sat down and it took the full two-and-three-quarter hours to wriggle out of my jeans.

I have never been able to sit through a Transformers movie, but epoxy aside, at least this one had a coherent story, some decent acting thanks to Wahlberg, Stanley Tucci and Kelsey Grammer, and some exciting chase sequences.

I just can't wrap my head around watching a bunch of Swiss Army knives on steroids bashing each other. But then again, I'm not a 12-year-old boy.

RC: No one can accuse Bay of skimping on ... well, anything. Age of Extinction is a wide-ranging action orgy that plays off of Bush-era Homeland Security paranoia and also explains why dinosaurs became extinct. It comments on the ethics of unarmed warfare and blows up most of Hong Kong. Bay doesn't do anything by half measures but I found myself wishing the movie was about half as long as it is with half the bombast.

It's stylish: "Why run when you can run in slow motion?" Bay seems to be asking, not unlike a car commercial. But it's excessive on almost every level. I don't expect or want My Dinner with Optimus Prime, but in this case I think less would have been more.

MB: My feelings here are complicated. I used to take it for granted that this kind of direction was evidence of a hack sensibility, which assumes that quantity makes viewers forget quality — a real cynic's position. But watching this instalment, I'm no longer so sure.

I think Bay really believes that these grand excesses are heroic, even Shakespearean. Its running time is equal to Hamlet. The movie is cheesy and schlocky, for sure, but the one possible grace note is Bay's commitment to the drive of the film. Too long, for sure, but at least this movie moves.

Synopsis

The action begins when unemployed robotic engineer Cade Yeager (Mark Wahlberg) and daughter Tessa (Nicola Peltz) uncover deactivated Autobot Optimus Prime (Peter Cullen) hidden under a pile of junk. Their discovery puts them under the microscope of CIA agent Harold Attinger (Kelsey Grammer) and tech tycoon Joshua Joyce (Stanley Tucci). The two are hatching a plan, fuelled by equal parts paranoia and genius, to build man-made second generation Transformers to seek out and destroy the Autobots.

They Came Together opens in select theatres and on VOD this weekend. CONTRIBUTED

When comedian and filmmaker David Wain made the movie Wet Hot American Summer 13 years ago, he never dreamed the summer camp satire would become a huge cult hit.

"I was surprised when I started to see that happening," said the director, who's gone on to make such comic hits as Role Models.

"When we did the film, we didn't have many expectations, but we hoped people would like it."

The demand has grown so much, in fact, that a sequel is in the early stages — an idea that originated after Wain reunited many of the 2001 film's original cast — including Amy Poehler and Paul Rudd for They Came Together (in theatres and on-demand this Friday). A parody of romantic comedies, the silly satire follows the aforementioned pair playing two perfectly suited lovers in what is being described as every bit as brilliant as The Naked Gun.

"That's a great compliment," exclaimed Wain, who credits his two stars as delivering the most dry on-camera performances since Gun's legendary lead, Leslie Nielsen.

"You need actors who can perform at a range where they can convey many emotions and deliver the script with such conviction no matter how silly it reads on paper."

Also known as one-third of the comedy troupe Stella (which includes actors Michael Ian Black and Michael Showalter), Wain insists They Came Together is both an homage to the formulaic nature of most rom-coms and a lampooning of the ludicrous character developments and clichéd twists of just about every Hollywood heart-tugger produced since (and including) You've Got Mail.

"I think we poked fun at all of them," said Wain.

"We took care to make sure that all of the aspects of romantic comedies were spoofed, from the perfect couple and their best friends to hitting the required story points to using New York not just as a setting but a character as well, we wanted all the tropes of romantic comedies to be in there."

When the answers aren't so obvious

Obvious Child. Former SNL comic Jenny Slate is making a name for herself with smaller projects that have a lot of heart

scene@metronews.ca

Since Jenny Slate's split from SNL, she's carved herself a unique place in the comedy world. CONTRIBUTED

When Jenny Slate didn't get her contract renewed at the end of her debut season on Saturday Night Live, it should've been the end of the young comic's career.

"Whether or not he meant it, I think that (producer) Lorne (Michaels) letting me go was an act of benevolence," admitted Slate recently.

"I think he realized that I didn't really fit in, or that if I did, it would take many years, so it was the best thing that could've happened to me."

That may be a great understatement. Ever since Slate unceremoniously split from the sketch show, she's carved out a unique place in the comedy world.

Not only have she and husband Dean Fleisher-Camp created the character Marcel the Shell (which became a wildly popular animated short and bestselling book), but now the 32-year-old is poised for stardom thanks to her stunning portrayal of a pregnant standup comedian in Obvious Child (which opens in select theatres June 27), an "abortion comedy" that is gaining much more attention than just laughs.

"I didn't think about it that far ahead," said Slate of the few moviegoers that have protested the film's matter-of-fact stance on the sensitive issue.

"It didn't seem to me to be a giant statement to be in a movie where a woman has an abortion, especially since it's not a victory or a tragedy for her. It's really about her and how it feels to make a clear decision about something when everything else in your life is unclear."

Obvious Child is certainly catching the eyes of critics, too.

And with another Marcel book out in November and a role on upcoming FX series Married, Slate's skyrocketing success is also quite obvious.

"It feels like the world is stretching out before me and there's a lot of good things ahead," said Slate in the midst of the film's exhausting promotional tour.

"(But) the first one is going home to my husband."

What Slate says

- Slate on her SNL experience. "It was a really good experience for me and also really challenging," said Slate. "I felt feelings that I really didn't want to feel again, so that helped me make decisions going into my career."
- Slate on the rise of female comedy. "It's hard for me to accept that now is the time for women in comedy," said Slate. "I think there's a generation of performers, male and female, that want to scale down and just tell smaller, more authentic stories."

Jared Leto

Leto named Sexiest Vegetarian Celebrity

As if the Oscar wasn't enough, Jared Leto now has the title of Sexiest Vegetarian Celebrity to be proud of, thanks to PETA. Of course, he has to share the honour with X-Men: Days of Future Past star Ellen Page, who was named as his female counterpart in the realm of sexy vegetarianism, according to E! News. Leto beat out Joaquin Phoenix, Samuel L. Jackson, Peter Dinklage and Woody Harrelson for the honour, while Page smoked Ariana Grande, Mad Men star Jessica Paré, Laura Prepon and Sarah Silverman. Leto recently divulged to the U.K. edition of GQ magazine that he's been meat-free for "20 solid years."

Will Ferrell threatened to bite German soccer players

MELINDA TAUB
Metro World News

If you were watching Thursday's World Cup game between the U.S. and Germany, which Germany won 1-0, you may have noticed that the U.S. side's secret weapon was absent from the field. Who's that, you ask? No, not star Jozy Altidore — who went down with an injury in the team's very first game of the tournament — but rather Will Ferrell.

The Anchorman star visited U.S. World Cup headquarters in Brazil this week, where he indicated he was ready and willing to pull a Suarez for America in Thursday's game.

Raising the fist of a soccer fan dressed as President Teddy Roosevelt, Ferrell led the crowd in chants of "USA! USA!"

"I'm so honoured to be playing (Thursday)," Ferrell said. "I'm not gonna lie to you, I'm not in soccer shape right now, but I'm gonna try my best ... If the game gets close, I will bite the opponent. I will bite every German player if I have to."

Ferrell also promised to reunite with fans after the game to party. "Look for the guy sitting next to Teddy Roosevelt in a red, white and blue bikini top," he said.

My resolution to be bolder when I barbecue this season is going ... slowly.

While I may have had dreams of planked salmon and racks of baby back ribs dancing on my grill, the lowly hamburger and hot dog just keep calling.

Not that they can't be considered haute cuisine, there are plenty of glossy cookbooks dedicated to both. What I really love is that you don't have to get fancy when looking for a wine match. The thing to remember is that the meat involved isn't the star of the show. It's everything you pile on top that dictates the pairing. Sugary condiments, hot peppers, cheese, sauerkraut — you name it, someone is layering it between their buns. Off-dry red and white wines are the most accommodating because they can roll with the sweet extremes and smother the fire of anything hot.

California's Revolution Red ($9.49 - $12.99) is a bright, berry-forward wine with a touch of residual sweetness. With more body than you might expect at its price-point, it makes a great partner with simple barbecue fare. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Cross-Canada Salad.

Serve this salad up at your Canada Day get-together for a truly patriotic dining experience. THERESA ALBERT

Starch
Highly nourishing grains like barley and flax grow in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Flax is a golden or brown seed that is high in fibre and good fat. Soaking or simmering creates a soluble fibre gel that is beneficial. Barley, meanwhile, serves up a base of fibre and nutrients.

P.E.I. grows potatoes and the mini red ones can be tossed into the grain pot so everything simmers together to create a new twist on summer's ubiquitous potato salad.

Ingredients

- 6 cups water
- 1 cup pearl barley
- 1/4 cup flax seeds
- 1 lb mini red potatoes
- 1/4 cup canola oil
- 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar, divided
- 1 tbsp maple syrup
- 2 tbsp mustard, divided
- 1 can boneless, skinless salmon drained
- 1 can crabmeat, drained
- 2 tbsp chopped chives
- 1/4 cup plain Greek yogurt
- 4 cups dandelion greens

Salad dressing
If you've never seen a canola field in bloom in a province like Alberta, you missing out on beautiful golden yellow fields that generate an oil seed that is in demand all over the world. The other yellow crop grown in many provinces including Ontario is mustard seed, which is a great binder in vinaigrette.

Apples grow across Canada, including in Newfoundland and New Brunswick, so apple cider vinegar is a must. Quebec maple trees are tapped for their sweet sap that adds a piquant sweetness to a savoury dish.

Greens are grown everywhere so a tiptoe through the farmland will deliver bitter dandelion and chives.

Protein topping
In British Columbia, Northwest Territories and Nunavut salmon is a deep and ancient part of the culture. The other coast of Nova Scotia serves up crab. To make life simple, go for the canned stuff. It's simple to use but equally delicious and nourishing.

According to Agriculture Canada, the Yukon's biggest export is cattle and forage, so Greek yogurt, the popular dairy product, will lend a creaminess and protein to the seafood salad topping.

1. In a large pot, bring water, a pinch of salt, potatoes, barley and flax seed to a boil, cover, and turn down to simmer for 30 minutes. When cooked, stir in 1/4 cup of vinegar, salt and pepper.

2. Whisk 1/4 cup canola oil, 1/4 cup apple cider vinegar, maple syrup and mustard for dressing.

3. Mix drained salmon and crab with Greek yogurt and 1 tbsp mustard plus chives.

4. Layer salad with barley mixture on the bottom, topped with dandelion or other greens then seafood salad. Drizzle with dressing.

Everyone's a winner

Advancing from Group G. Germans defeat Americans, both move on to knockout stage

Joachim Loew and Jurgen Klinsmann shook hands, smiled and patted each on the shoulders, like the two good friends they are. The two coaches had every reason to be pleased: Both of their teams advanced to the knockout stage of the World Cup.

Loew's Germany beat Klinsmann's United States 1-0 thanks to Thomas Mueller's fourth goal of the tournament and the outcome allowed both teams to advance. Portugal beat Ghana 2-1 in the other Group G match but both were eliminated.

A draw would have been enough as well, and it had been the matter of much conjecture before Thursday's rain-drenched match. But neither team held back and both attacked, although Germany was clearly in control.

"Well, first I asked him (Klinsmann) for the result of the other match. I didn't know that and he also told me they advanced and I told him, I'm happy," Loew said.

"That is a tough group and the Americans were a bit the outsiders. Everybody considered Portugal a favourite to make it.... (The Americans) really have qualities, they fight, they can run and they really are tough on the opponent. If you beat Ghana, play a draw against Portugal, I think you deserve to make it to the next round."

Germany, a three-time champion, plays Algeria, the runner-up in Group H, on June 30. The Americans play Belgium, the winner of that group, on July 1.

"It's a good feeling because now it's really just a clear picture for everyone. Just focus on that one opponent you have for that next game. ... We'll just talk about one team to beat at a time and this is why I'm really excited" about this next phase, Klinsmann said.

Win not enough. Portugal going home despite victory over Ghana

Ghana's John Boye and Portugal's Cristiano Ronaldo fall to the ground after colliding in Brasilia, Brazil, Thursday. MARCIO JOSE SANCHEZ/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cristiano Ronaldo finally made his mark at the World Cup — but it came too late to spare Portugal an early exit from Brazil.

The world player of the year broke his scoring drought at the tournament with an 80th-minute winner in Portugal's 2-1 victory over Ghana on Thursday.

That result, however, left the Portuguese level on four points with United States in Group G but with an inferior goal difference to the second-place Americans, who lost 1-0 to Germany, which was the group winner.

Ronaldo barely celebrated after slamming home his goal with his left foot, giving Portugal its first win after a 4-0 loss to Germany and 2-2 draw with the U.S.

No. 1 pick Wiggins joins Cleveland Canucks

NBA. After gambling on Brampton's Bennett in 2013, Cavs take Vaughan product with sky-high potential

Vaughan's Andrew Wiggins went No. 1 at the NBA draft on Thursday in Brooklyn. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Andrew Wiggins of Kansas was selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers with the No. 1 pick in the NBA draft on Thursday night.

The Cavs went for the freshman from Vaughan to open the draft for the second straight year and hope Wiggins works out better than Anthony Bennett of Brampton.

Bennett was injured last summer and came into the season out of shape and made no impact, one of the reasons the Cavs were back in this spot again.

But Wiggins seems a much more ready product after averaging a Kansas freshman-record 17.1 points. He might have ended up as the top pick anyway, but became the best option when Jayhawks teammate Joel Embiid suffered a stress fracture in his right foot.

"A thousand thoughts are going through my head right now," Wiggins said. "It's a dream come true.

"Now going to high school and college, the opportunity and possibility of going No. 1 came into talk. And now I accomplished that, so it's just a crazy feeling right now. I don't even know how I feel. It doesn't even feel real right now."

Milwaukee followed with another freshman, Duke forward Jabari Parker, who on Wednesday disputed that he was out of shape for his workout with Cleveland and performed poorly.

Some consider him the more NBA-ready after an All-American season for the Blue Devils. Embiid went third to Philadelphia.

On a historic night for Canada, Nik Stauskas of Mississauga went eighth overall to Sacramento and Brampton's Tyler Ennis went to Phoenix at 18. The Toronto Raptors took Brazilian Bruno Caboclo with the No. 20 pick.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
Take care of family matters today. You will not only have the desire to do something about them but partners will for once be co-operative, so make the most of the situation and spread a little happiness.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Short trips will be productive today, so don't stay in one place for too long. The more you are on the move the more likely it is you will meet people who can be of some use to you.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
What happens today will remind you that money is not the most important thing in the world. Yes, you need to make a living but that does not mean you should put material things ahead of everything else.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
A new moon in your birth sign today gives you an advantage over most people and you would be a fool not to take advantage of it. You may not have this much energy for quite a while, so be amazing.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
You have nothing to fear and everything to look forward to and the more you repeat that phrase to yourself today the more likely it is you will have a great time.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Today's new moon suggests you can take a leadership role in group activities. Others will follow you willingly if you are willing to take more responsibility. Lead from the front.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
You can expect something big to happen on the work front over the next few days. But why wait for things to happen to you? Show those in power you're ready to be promoted.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Because today's new moon falls in one of the more expansive areas of your chart your thoughts will be positive. What you think about now will be your reality later on.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
Cosmic activity in one of the more sensitive areas of your chart may give you a negative view of life but it does not have to be that way. What happens over the next 24 hours will confirm that you are loved.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
A new moon in your opposite sign of Cancer means that partners and loved ones will be full of themselves over the next 24 hours. Instead of getting angry about it why don't you join in the fun?

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Others insist that you work harder but don't do it. You may have time and energy at your disposal but you should be using it to further your own aims, not the aims of others.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Today's new moon in the most dynamic area of your chart endows you with confidence and energy. Whatever you put your mind to will be a success. But don't spread yourself too thin. SALLY BROMPTON
